Project overview

The product:

Apollo University is a comprehensive HR management app and website designed for both employees and HR professionals. It features training, performance tracking, secure document management, and a social media-like feed for employee contributions. Our target users are employees needing easy access to HR services and HR leaders managing their teams. Apollo University aims to enhance productivity and engagement in the workplace.

Project duration:

Project began in April, 2024

Project overview

The problem:

Apollo University addresses the challenge of fragmented HR processes by providing a centralized platform for training, performance tracking, and document management. We identified a need for seamless communication and engagement within organizations to boost productivity and employee satisfaction.

The goal:

The goal of Apollo University is to streamline HR processes and enhance employee engagement through a unified platform. By fostering efficient communication and comprehensive HR management, we aim to drive positive change in workplaces, leading to higher productivity and employee satisfaction.

Project overview

My role:

Stephon Morris, the sole UX designer on this project, my role was to create an intuitive and engaging user experience for Apollo University. I designed the app and website to ensure seamless navigation, efficient HR management, and enhanced employee engagement.

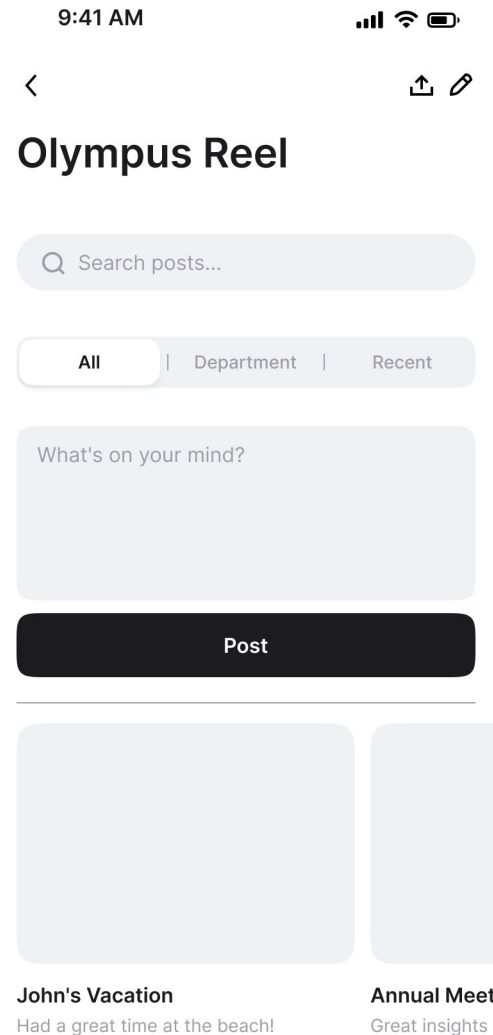

Responsibilities:

- Conducting user research to understand the needs and pain points of target users
- Creating wireframes to outline the structure and flow of the app and website
- Developing interactive prototypes for user testing and feedback
- Designing the user interface (UI) with a focus on usability and aesthetic appeal
- Collaborating with developers to ensure the design was implemented accurately
- Continuously iterating on designs based on user feedback and testing results.
